

WHERE ASPIRING YOUNG DANCERS DEVELOP

MEDIA RELEASE FORM

To: Parent(s), Guardian(s) and Students 18 Years of Age and Older Re: Use of Student Personal Information

Schools must adhere to guidelines that are set out through legislation regarding the protection of students' personal information. Parents/guardians of students under the age of 18, and students 18 years of age and older, are to be informed of the uses of their personal information. During the dance school year, students may be involved in a variety of dance studio activities and events on or off studio premises. There are situations where personal information may be provided to those who assist with such situations. Please see below.

PART A

Specific information from the Student Registration Form will be provided to one or more of the following group of people, if required. (Note: If you have any objections to the release of this information, please indicate your concerns under Part A of this form.)

Recital Volunteers ~ Class lists are shared to help identify and organize students prior to their performance.

Society of Classical Ballet (Vaganova Method) – During ballet exams, examiners may choose to photograph, or video record the students to enable for more precise examination notes.

PART B

Students' names and photographs may be used for our CSDS website, social media sites, newsletters, advertising, lobby displays, community television & local newspapers for studio-related classes, activities & events.

Note: There are general uses of student's personal information that do not require written permission as those uses are in accordance with Ontario school education and privacy legislation requirements. This includes reference to the fact that the school cannot always control which students the media or members of the public choose to film/photograph/interview, especially during public or semi-public events. This may result in photos or recordings being posted on their social media sites, websites and other publications.

I understand that Centre Stage Dance Studio and/or external organizations may attend dance events, including but not limited to lessons, dance exams, competitions, indoor/outdoor dance camps and sporting/community performances. As a result, my child's Works (name, image and performance) may be photographed, filmed or audio-taped for the purpose of being published and/or broadcast on media websites, on television or radio.

I AGREE that my child's Works can be used as described above.
